PLAY BILLS OF THE WEEK

Thursday the 19th, the delightful farce comedy "A Tin Soldier," will be seen at the Grand with a good company in the cast. About its appearance at Cleveland the Landwehr says:

"Mr. Charles H. Hoyt is the author of seven farce comedies—'A Rag Baby,' 'A Bunch of Keys,' 'A Parlor Match,' 'A House on the Ground,' 'A Brass Monkey,' 'A Midnight Bell' and 'A Tin Soldier,' but in the estimation of a large proportion of theatergoers the greatest of these, or at least the funniest, is 'A Tin Soldier.' It will be noticed that all the titles of these pieces begin with the indefinite article 'A.' Which is intentional or not is not made public, but probably it is, for pretty much everybody connected with the stage is guided more or less by superstition of some sort, and after 'A Rag Baby' and 'A Bunch of Keys' provided successful it is likely they cling to the letter of the alphabet for an initial as a mascot. All of his productions have 'caught on' in stage slang at all events, and if he turns out any more they undoubtedly will have the same trade mark in the caption."

Mr. Hoyt does not class his skits among the comedies of the stage, and does not even name them to the dignity of plays, broad as that term is. He calls "A Tin Soldier," for instance, an "invocation of the drama," an unassuming effort to present a few character sketches in an amusing form, which will expiate the nature of the entertainment. It is a sort of a plot to connect or introduce the efforts of men, but after one leaves the theater with sides aching from laughter, he remembers nothing of the story, though he has a vivid recollection of "Rags," "Keys" and "Monkeys," the types of which are "A Tin Soldier," and appropriately designated a "domestic earthquake," and of the grotesque behavior of the "silly engineer." Like its fellows "A Tin Soldier" is designated solely to make an audience laugh, and it accomplishes its mission most thoroughly.

THE SPARKING LITTLE COMEDIANNE Izzy Evans will delight her audience in "The Palace" at the Grand Opera House next Friday night. This comedy, originally written for Emma Thompson, is a very interesting plot and the characters are clearly and strongly drawn. The action opened in an old country cross road tavern in the state of Ohio, and Miss Evans assumes the character of Mary Jane, an orphaned girl, which role she presents in a very attractive manner. It gives her an opportunity for the display of humor and also of emotional power with which the star is clearly gifted. In one act she introduces her famous whistling song, with orchestra accompaniment, and in another scene she sings a new lullaby. She is well supported this season by a very capable company.

There will be a concert in matinee Saturday afternoon on which occasion "The Palace" will be presented, and at night "Our Angel" will be the bill.

ODD-FELLOWS CONVENTION

All the various State Bodies to meet in Springfield this week.

The Patriarchs Militant of the Illinois Odd Fellows will convene in Springfield this morning and will perform escort duty for the grand bodies which will convene in their annual session at the State House on Wednesday. The Grand Encampment will meet in the senate chamber this morning. The Grand Lodge will meet to-night in the representatives' hall and the convention of Daughters of Rebecca will take place Wednesday and Thursday in the senate chamber. The Veterans Odd-Fellows association will also hold its session at the State House during the week. A large attendance is expected. Several candidates for office are already on the scene. J. L. Barnum, candidate for Grand Master of the Grand Lodge arrived Sunday morning.

George W. Patterson, of Decatur, who is a candidate, with good backing, for state secretary, went over yesterday evening to interview the boys.

Fifteen or twenty members of the Patriarchs Militant from Lovington, Alcala and Arthur were in Decatur during the day and left in the afternoon for Springfield.

In the contest of the Patriarchs Militant for a magnificent silk flag Decatur cannot win take part.

WE NEED ALL OUR MONEY, TIME AND ENERGY IN OUR CHICAGO BUSINESS.

To the People of Decatur and Macon County, Illinois:

I moved to Chicago in 1885 and advertised to sell Boots and Shoes at Cost in Decatur (and did sell at Cost), but later made a trade to have the business continue. In 1887 I took a partner, Mr. Lapham, in with me there, but in 1888 my business had grown so in Chicago that I had to have Mr. Lapham help me here, and in January, 1889, Mr. Lapham came here, and I advertised to sell at Cost in Decatur, and did sell at Cost, until I made arrangements to continue to run the Decatur store, so Mr. Lapham and myself thought we could operate it satisfactorily and both be here, attentive to our Chicago business. We are now selling close to half a million dollars worth of goods a year in Chicago, and can not give necessary time to Decatur business to run it as well as we would like to, in justice to ourselves and our customers. We have now (Nov 14th, 1889) determined to close out the entire Decatur business and quit it, hook and line, by January 1st, and what goods are left on hand there at that time, if any, will be moved to Chicago, and that store is for rent from January 1st. In order to do this we shall at once, beginning to-day, offer the entire stock, about $30,000 worth, fixtures, safe and furniture for sale at 15 per cent. less than Cost at wholesale and retail, for Cash. Yours, sincerely,

A Strange Marriage.
Squire W. L. Hammer went out to the poor farm yesterday to perform an unusual wedding ceremony. The bride was propped up in bed so weak that she could hardly hold up her head, while a little baby two days old was in the crib near by. The parties to the contract were John W. Chick, of Mt. Auburn, and Fannie E. Miller, of Decatur. He was brought here yesterday by Constable J. M. Johnson, of Mt. Auburn. The warrant for his arrest was sworn about a month ago by Miss Miller, who swore that he was the father of her then unborn babe. The papers were sent to Johnson for service. He had some trouble in getting hold of his man.
The girl, in the mean time was absolutely without money or friends. So she was obliged to go to the poor farm.
When Chick was found by Johnson, he said he would have married the girl long ago, but his folks objected and by their objections kept him from it. She worked near Mr. Auburn last spring and they became acquainted there. Johnson says now he thinks a great deal of her. She is described as being a rather good looking girl, of pleasing and fine manners. Clearly she is not a bad woman. It is expected that through the lives of these two young people have begun under a cloud the greater part and the end will be full enough of sunshine and prosperity. Let us hope so.
A Transfer Recorded.

A MAN UNDER THE BED.

A Young Man's Experience With a Burglar
Russell Elliot, a young man staying at the residence of Mrs. Sarah Anderson, at the corner of Edward and William streets, found last night what the old maids have been looking for so long,—that was a man under the bed, though Russell wasn't looking for him. The young man went up to his room about 5 o'clock to get ready to go to the opera house. Happening to glance toward the bed, at the opposite side of the room, he saw a man's foot under the bed. Thinking it was some one hiding under there to play a trick on him, Russell went over and began kicking the man, saying at the same time: "Here, what are you doing here?"
The man disappeared further under the bed, and the next instant a big 12 calibre revolver, already cocked and with a finger on the trigger, made its appearance outside in the lamplight. That was enough for young Elliot. He didn't wait to see any more, but broke for the door and went down stairs at the rate of about six steps to the jump.
The man could be plainly heard above getting out. He came out from under the bed, ran across the room raised the window, climbed out on the one story part of the house at the back and jumped to the ground, a distance of about 14 feet. Then he got away without being seen again.
The police were telephoned and officers Leech and Miller went out. They looked all over the neighborhood and up and down the railroad track, but they could find nothing. The boy could not give a description of the man. All he saw was a pair of black trousers and a muddy foot.
It is supposed that the fellow went in the front door, which was unlocked, and slipped upstairs without being seen. Undoubtedly his intention was to wait until the family had gone out or retired for the night, and then to have helped himself to whatever he wanted.

FUNERAL OF KESSLER.

It is Largely Attended.—His Business Affairs.
The funeral of George E. Kessler was held Sunday at 1 o'clock at Ballard's undertaking rooms. There was quite a large attendance of all classes of people, several ladies being among them. The body in its plain casket was set on one end of the main room, while rows of chairs filled up the rest of the room space. All the chairs were occupied and many people were standing up.
Rev. G. E. Springer conducted the services, which were very brief. He read a Scriptural passage, spoke a few words and offered a short prayer.
Mrs. Fred Chisman was there as chief mourner. She didn't manifest any violent emotion, but leaned over the coffin and sighed deeply.
The employees of the establishment carried the body out and put it in the hearse. Several buggies and vehicles followed it to Greenwood, where the casket was put in Mr. Ballard's vault to await some word from Kessler's relatives.
Marshal Mayon received a telegram Sunday from one of Kessler's brothers at Philadelphia telling him to hold the body, that he had telegraphed his parents at Baltimore, and to wait until word was received from them.
Bunn & Park also received a message from the firm of attorneys at Baltimore, who were mentioned before, instructing them to look after the business and have it taken care of, until further instructions were sent. That they will do.

The King's Foot.

The magnificent performance of this bright and pleasing opera as given last night by Corried's company illustrated most completely the wonderful resources of our new opera house. This company is one of the largest on the road, yet their most complicated and intricate evolutions, were rendered with perfect ease and plenty of room to spare, and it was a magnificent performance in every sense of the word. In the first place the opera itself is brilliant in costumes, in music and in special evolutions. The audience was large and select, and not a few of them had come especially for the purpose of seeing "Helen Bertram" whom they knew in her girlhood days as Lulu Burt, at Tuscola and Paris. Those who remembered her as a lively haired and rosy cheeked dandy, and there were not a few of them, had every reason to be proud of their grand old school mate. She took the leading part "Princess Juliet" and she sustained the trying role in the most brilliant manner. In face and figure she rivals the most celebrated of the stage beauties, and her voice is a revelation. The musical critics were all in unison in awarding her the highest merit of praise.
Della Fox as "Kyonne" and J. W. Herbert as "The King's Foot" look captive the fancy of the audience and they were encored again and again. The songs "Zair Columbia" and "These Words No Shakespear" wrote, were very clever and it seemed as if the audience would never be willing to hear the last of them.
Ada Glasco as "Felicia" also sang in splendid voice and the chorus was one of the strongest that ever appeared in our city. The lady feacors and the drift in the last act were both very popular features and had much to do with the pronounced success which "The King's Foot" achieved. The citizens of Decatur were well pleased that they have an opera house that can accommodate such magnificent productions, and are happy in that the house is in the charge of a manager, who has the enterprise and good judgment to secure a visit from such an organization.

PROLIFIC NICKELS.

The Remarkable Way in Which 55 of the Coins Grew.
One month ago, about the time the Presbyterian church decided to spend $1000 fixing up the mission on College street, the Society of Christian Endeavor was asked to raise $100 to go towards the improvement. That is a society that has about as much energy as any in the city, and can do perhaps a little more than any other. When it starts out to do a thing, that thing is generally done.
The society was at first appalled but then concluded it could raise the $100. It was voted that each member should be given a nickel to invest for the society. Fifty-five nickels, or $2.75, were put out that way to be returned in one month. Last night the regular business meeting was held, and as it was an unusual meeting and the nickels were to be returned, it was held at the parsonage. The money was turned in and counted. It amounted to just $198, $8 more than was expected.
Then the members told how they invested their nickels. The ways were nearly as various as the coins. Several are mentioned in the poem written and read by Miss Etta Hale. One lady who made over $6 altogether, started out by buying a box of blanking and shining her husband's shoes every day. She soon had a good start and turned the money over in other ways.
Miss Hale's poem was as follows:
What have I done with my nickel?
Alas! I am sorry to say
I have been in a dreadful pickle,
Of blanking and shining the things that make
Blanking boots was out of the question.
Because we had none to blank,
Pop corn was a drug in the market,
And only a nickel's worth.
So I bought a yard of cheese cloth
And made of it a dusters two.
They were rather small, I acknowledge,
But then I made them do.
One half I sold to my mother,
For which she paid a dime;
The other half still lies in the bag,
Patiently waiting its time.
Then I got a piece of chamois,
Of which I made a nice pair of pens.
At ten cents apiece I sold them
Among my gentleman friends.
The ladies came to my rescue,
On some of whom I called,
And helped to increase my nickel
By taking hairpins.
But the stitches were so many
And the profit so very small,
It somehow seemed as if my pie
Should have been cut in half.
Then I tried making candy
And all pronounced it fine;
It was a wonderful success,
I do not think I could be more.
Every little helps you see.
I am sure all have done our best,
And we cannot wait in the by way,
South on our accord we gladly say,
Success to the Mission Church.
Afterwards a number of musical selections were given and a most delightful evening was passed with the genial pastor, Rev. Penhalligon, and wife. There were about 100 persons present, quite a little party, and they made the time pass most merrily.
The society voted to invite Hon. J. H. Eckles, of Ottawa, Ill., one of the most promising young men of the state, to deliver the anniversary address at the celebration of the third anniversary of the society, on Sunday, Dec. 8.

RAILROAD NOTES.

The Illinois Central pay car was here yesterday.
E. M. Meniweather left yesterday for Chicago.
A. Stevens, of the T. H. & P., was at Chicago yesterday.
Resident Engineer Vandercook of the Wabash was here yesterday.
General Foreman Shoemaker, of the Wabash car department, went to Chicago last night.
C. F. Hunt, for some time a brakeman on the Chicago branch of the Wabash, is now running out of Decatur.
John Swigert returned yesterday from a short visit at Evansville, Ind., with Helen Whitburn, chief clerk in the office of G. A. Hurd.
W. F. Valliant, F. B. Trax, A. B. Francis and E. W. Stockpole, members of the Wabash surveying party that is making a survey of the line, are at the Central house.
The C. & A. have just inaugurated fast meat trains that make the time from Kansas City to Chicago in 24 hours. Last Monday the distance was covered in 20 hours with ease. The C. & A. have the cream of the fresh beef trade, and have decided to keep it. Superintendent Hawley has christened the new train "The Weimerwurst Express."
Fined.
Martin Boland and Con O'Connor, of Springfield, were before Justice Foster yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct. They were fined $3 and costs each. Saturday night they took two girls in Decatur and went to a Water street hotel to get rooms. The girls' father and brother appeared on the scene about that time and then there was a racket. The girls were taken home by their relatives, screaming at every step.
More Lights.
The Electric Light company put in its new 500 light incandescent machine yesterday, making a total of 1,300 incandescent lights that the company has altogether now. They have 54 arc lights besides. This is regarded as being an unusually large plant for a town of this size.
The Loan Association.
The amounts and premium money loaned by the People's Saving and Loan association last night was as follows: $1000 at 1 1/2%, $300 at 1 1/2%, $200 at 1 1/2%, $100 at 1 1/2%, $400 at 9%, $200 at 9%, $100 at 9%.

THE COUNCIL MEETING.

Electrician Ragsdale Recommends a New Dynamo.
Last night's session of the council was short, and had little in it of special interest. All the members, but Aldermen Simpson, Harwood and Park were present.
About the first thing was a statement by City Electrician Ragsdale, who recommended to the council the purchase of another dynamo, for the city lighting plant, as those now in use have not power enough to give a good strong current, and therefore good enough lights, on the line now up. He said the wire of our line is of a poor grade, and gives at least a resistance of 25 per cent. to the passage of a current strong enough to keep five lights going brightly on all the towers.
The discussion of the electrician's suggestion was the most animated and important part of the session. A number of plans were brought out. One alderman asked why not put up a new line. Mr. Ragsdale replied that would cost more than the dynamo and power to run it.
Finally Alderman Scammon's suggestion that that two lamps be put out on each tower for two nights, beginning to-night, and afterwards three lights, to ascertain the effect on the brilliancy of the remaining lights, was adopted.
A petition signed by five property owners, of whom Hatfield & Co. were the first, against granting the franchise of the proposed extension of the Citizens' street railway line on East Main street was received and placed on file without discussion.
D. A. Maffitt's bill of $19.55 for ice was allowed and a warrant was also ordered issued for the payment of $261.50 for interest.
Marshal Mayon's report of arrests, showing 87 during the month, with a total of $103 40 fines collected, was returned to the city attorney.
County Clerk Hardy's certified statement of commissioners' fees in street paving cases, with a total of $170, certified by the finance committee was adopted.
The treasurer's report for October, approved by the finance committee, showing a balance of $19,300 00 on hand, was adopted.
A resolution was adopted to grade Jasper street from the railway to Sangamon street. Two bids for paving sidewalks were received and referred to the sidewalk and crossing committee, who retired to examine the bids and afterwards reported in favor of the rejection of both. The report was adopted.
After further extension of the discussion of the petition of the mayor and the sidewalk and crossing committee were authorized by a two-thirds vote to contract for the building of all sidewalks ordered and not laid, at a price not to exceed 8 cents per square yard, the money not to be paid by the city before May 1, 1890.
Alderman Shoemaker called the attention of the council to the condition of affairs at the Illinois Central crossing on East Eldorado street, and around the depot, and his motion to instruct the city clerk to notify the Illinois Central railway company that they must put the said crossing in good repair was adopted, as was a motion by Mr. May to be charged $135 per month back water rates. The council then adjourned.

An Internal Machine.

LINCOLN, Ill., Nov. 17.—Yesterday evening Robert Renner, of Mt. Pleasant, received a package from the express office at that place, which purported to come from New York City. An investigation showed it to be an infernal machine. It was taken out in the back yard and in a short time exploded, scattering loose boards and dirt in all directions. Mr. Renner has not the slightest idea who sent it or for what purpose it was sent. It is supposed to have been a practical joke. Mr. Renner was sick at the time and the event has made her case a critical one. The rumor that the house was blown down has been proven to be unfounded. It is almost a miracle, however, that it was not Mr. and Mrs. Renner were not both killed. The perpetrators deserve a long term of imprisonment for the diabolical deed. There are all sorts of conflicting reports about the affair and it is difficult to find out the straight of it.

Warning.

The party was seen taking the umbrella from the porch of W. P. Hunter's residence, 905 North Main street, Sunday night, and his name is known. Trouble will be saved by returning it to this office or at Hunter's commission house.
